

IN THE CITY

STEPHEN WOULD'S

In the city

there are homeless people who beg for money

who sleep on the streets

who are ashamed

who are lonely

In the city

there are drunk people who are silly

who drink too much

who fall asleep

who are ashamed

In the city

there are people who steal

who pick pockets

who smash car windows

who rob shops

who shoplift

In the city

there are good people who give things away

who ask for money

who feed the poor

to help each other
